Daniel Maier-Reimer | Nine Journeys

May 20th - July 23rd 2022

Currently Daniel Maier-Reimer is in Cologne. Over the past few years, he's been to other places. Nine of these journeys are exhibited in the gallery in the form of individual relicts - one journey per room - to be navigated with the exhibition guide, a map to take along. One of these journeys is presented by Florian Hüttner. He turns the room into a bar, which he designed for this occasion.

We can see trees, water, stones, blurred colours, like views from a moving train. But what else can we see? The veiled process of travelling? The artist's memorabilia? The places he travelled across? Or simply the photographs?

How do we know there are nine journeys on display? Our eyes won't tell us; they can't. Whatever it is we are seeing, there is more which we aren't seeing.

This exhibition is not a second-hand experience. Instead of documenting or transporting what is seen, the photographs create ever new individual spaces of experience. By exploring and contemplating the exhibition, our own view and being-in-the-world is woven around the artist's framed experiences ... but maybe I'm wrong.
